Linda Moulton Howe

Linda Moulton Howe (born January 20, 1942) is an American investigative journalist and Regional Emmy award-winning documentary film maker best known for her work as a ufologist and advocate of a variety of conspiracy theories, including her investigation of cattle mutilations and conclusion that they are performed by extraterrestrials. She is also noted for her speculations that the U.S. government is working with aliens.^{[2][3][4][5]}

Early life

She was born Linda Ann Moulton in Boise, Idaho.^[6] Howe entered the 1963 Miss Boise pageant for college scholarships and went on to win the 1963 Miss Idaho crown^[6] and scholarships, and participated in the Miss America 1964 pageant that year in Atlantic City. Howe received her 1965 B.A. cum laude in English Literature from the University of Colorado. In 1966, Howe was awarded the Stanley Baubaire Scholarship for her master's degree work at Stanford University, Palo Alto, California. She received her master's degree in communication from Stanford University in 1968, where she produced a documentary film for the Stanford Medical Center and her Master's Thesis, "A Picture Calculus," at the Stanford Linear Accelerator.

Career

Howe's early work focused on environmental issues. From 1978 to 1983, Howe was Director of Special Projects at KMGH-TV, Channel 7, Denver, Colorado. Her documentaries included Poison in the Wind and A Sun Kissed Poison which compared smog pollution in Los Angeles and Denver, Fire In The Water about hydrogen as an alternative energy source to fossil fuels, and A Radioactive Water about uranium contamination of public drinking water in a Denver suburb. Howe was on staff at WCVB-TV when the station won an Institutional Peabody Award for institutional excellence in 1975.^[7]

In 1980, Howe produced A Strange Harvest, a documentary that suggested unusual wounds found on cattle are the work of extraterrestrial beings who harvest body parts required for their survival or research, and that the U.S. government is complicit. The documentary^[8] received a Regional Emmy award for Audio Achievement^[9] in 1981. Howe became known as a "staunch advocate" for these ideas, and began to focus on UFO conspiracy theories and speculate about alleged connections between cattle mutilations, UFOs and supposed government conspiracies, saying "I am convinced that one or more alien intelligences are affecting this planet".^{[2][3]} Although Howe claimed she was shown secret documents after being taken into confidence by an agent of the government, author John Greer wrote that Howe presented no evidence for such claims other than "the very ambiguous evidence provided by rotting cow carcasses".^{[10][11]}

One Idaho state director of Mutual UFO Network (MUFON) called her "the most preeminent UFO investigator in the world", and she was named as one of "the gurus of American ufology",^[4] although Howe has said she regards herself as a television producer and investigative reporter. Much of Howe's work includes speculations about what she terms "unexplained" phenomena, such as cattle mutilations, crop circles, UFO sightings, and alien abductions.^[12]

Howe has produced numerous UFO related programming, including a two-hour special Earth Mysteries: Alien Life Forms in association with WATL-Fox, Atlanta, was Supervising Producer and Original Concept Creator for UFO Report: Sightings financed by Paramount Studios and the Fox network in Los Angeles that was first broadcast in October 1991 and became the Sightings series on Fox.

Howe appeared on a panel at UFO Disclosure press event held at the National Press Club in 2013, saying she believed "alien technology appears so advanced" that "space and time could be bent by outer space travelers, therefore allowing extraterrestrials to visit Earth".^[13]

Howe has proposed that some photographs of crop circles show evidence of mysterious energy she terms "visible light phenomena". Joe Nickell described Howe as a "credulous journalist" in a 2002 article in Skeptical Inquirer magazine, saying that photos Howe published purporting to show mysterious energy are simply misinterpretations of photographic accidents, such as a camera's wrist strap reflecting the flash, or circular artifacts caused by floating dust, errors that Nickell calls "the stock-in-trade of ghost hunters".^[14]

Howe was a frequent guest on Coast to Coast AM for years, dating back to 2003 with George Noory, and 1991 with Art Bell. In 2019, she ended her monthly appearances on the show.^[15] Howe has been interviewed on Larry King Live specials, CNN; The O'Reilly Factor, Fox; Sightings and Strange Universe, Fox; NBC's The Other Side; Britain's Union Pictures, ITN and BBC; The Discovery Channel special Evidence On Earth; the NBC network special, Mysterious Origins of Man, and the History Channel television series Ancient Aliens.^[16]

Howe remains active as the host of a weekly broadcast on YouTube that dates back to 2007.^[17]

Awards

- For her early work focusing on environmental issues, she received Colorado's Florence Sabin Award for "outstanding contribution to public health" in 1982.^[18]

- Howe's An Alien Harvest received a New Mexico-Arizona Southwest Book Award in 2015.^[19]

Personal life

Linda Moulton Howe's father was Chet Moulton, Idaho's Director of Aeronautics from 1946 to 1971 and recipient of multiple aviation honors.^[20]

List of reported UFO sightings

This is a list of notable reported sightings of unidentified flying objects (UFOs) and related claims of close encounters or abductions. UFOs are generally considered to include any perceived aerial phenomenon that cannot be immediately identified or explained. Upon investigation, most UFOs are identified as known objects or atmospheric phenomena, while a small number remain unexplained.^{[2][3][4]} UFOs have been referred to using a range terms including the more specific "flying saucer" and the more general "unidentified anomalous phenomena" (UAP). The term "UAP" is sometimes used to avoid cultural associations with UFO conspiracy theories.^{[5][6][7]}

Although often viewed as abnormal, UFO sightings are reported frequently.^{[8][9]} During the United States' initial 1947 wave, over 800 sightings were reported in the news.^[10] The British Ministry of Defence receives 100s of reports each year.^[11] In

Most commonly reported shapes in UFO sightings gathered by the National UFO Reporting Center Online Database (NUFORC)^[1]

Brazil, pilots alone report dozens of annual sightings.^{[12][13]} A small portion of reported sightings have lasting cultural significance,^[14] interpreted through the cultural and technological expectations of the time.^[15]

c. 1450 BC	Thutmose III Jebel Barkal Stele	AF , Ancient Egypt ; Jebel Barkal , Lower Egypt	After conquering the ancient Nubian city of Napata , Thutmose III had a stele erected at the Temple of Amun , beneath the Jebel Barkal outcropping. ^[16] The stele describes how "a star came down" to set fire to Thutmose's adversaries. ^{[17][18]} This has been cited by ufologists via the purported Tulli Papyrus , likely a fraud. ^[19] This alleged translation—published in issue 41 of the Fortean Society's magazine Doubt —used such Fortean tropes as "circles of fire" and fish that "fell down from the sky". ^[20] :369–372
218 BC	Ships in the sky	EU , Roman Republic ; Rome , Italy	During the build-up to the Second Punic War , Livy recorded prodigies in the winter sky, including navium speciem de caelo adfulsisse ("phantom ships had been seen gleaming in the sky"). ^{[21][22]}
76 BC	Spark from a falling star	AS , Roman Republic ; Asia	According to Pliny the Elder , a spark fell from a star and grew as it descended until it appeared to be the size of the Moon. It then ascended and transformed into a torch. Astronomer Richard Stothers interpreted the report as a description of a bolide . ^{[23][24]}
73 BC	Flame-like wine-jars from the sky	AS , Roman Republic ; Phrygia , Asia	According to Plutarch , a Roman army commanded by Lucullus was about to begin a battle with Mithridates VI of Pontus when "the sky burst asunder, and a huge, flame-like body was seen to fall between the two armies". Plutarch reports the shape of the object as like a wine-jar (pithos). ^{[25][22]}
AD 65	Sky army	AS , Roman Empire ; Judaea	Romano-Jewish historian Flavius Josephus reported chariots "hurtling through the clouds" prior to the First Jewish–Roman War . ^[22]
AD 196	Angel hair	EU , Roman Empire ; Rome , Italy	Historian Cassius Dio described a "fine rain resembling silver [that] descended from a clear sky upon the Forum of Augustus ." He wrote that he was able to plate some of his bronze coins, but four days later, the silvery coating was gone. ^[22]
AD c. 740	Air ship of Clonmacnoise	EU , Ireland ; Teltown in County Meath , and Clonmacnoise in County Offaly	Several sets of Irish annals , those of Ulster , Tigernach , Clonmacnoise , and the Four Masters , have entries to the effect that " ships with their crews were seen in the air ". ^[26]
